The International College of Broadcasting ensures the school neither denies admission nor discriminates against students enrolled at the school based on race, religion, color, gender, sexual orientation, genetic information, age, disability, or national origin. Once the student has been admitted to the college and met all the necessary admissions requirements, they will receive an acceptance letter into the college confirming the student has meet all of the requirements along with their confirmed start date.

VALIDITY OF HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETION

If receipt of the high school completion documents is flagged by the Financial Aid Office, further review will be necessary to confirm the validity of the High School Diploma or high school equivalent. In the event there is reason to believe that the High School Diploma or High School equivalent appears inauthentic or not granted by an eligible post-secondary institution further review may be necessary. Validity is concluded by confirming the high school's accreditation status with the Ohio Department of Higher Education along with the agency that has authority over the location of the high school. If not able to validate through the appropriate agency the Financial Aid Office will perform due diligence by working with the Admissions Office by contacting the high school for additional information as well as consulting the governing body in proximity to the high school that is in question.

APPROVED HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMAS

Students can receive financial aid if the high school diploma has been confirmed as valid. Validity of the diploma can be retroactive within the same academic year, as it applies to FSA guidelines of retroactive disbursements.

QUESTIONED HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMAS

If the student should receive notification of their high school diploma being reviewed under further investigation, federal financial aid will not be awarded until validity of the high school diploma has been confirmed.

This assessment is strictly for the student's benefit.

SmarterMeasure is a tool which helps students determine their level of readiness for taking online or technology rich courses. After completing SmarterMeasure students will view a webpage which will populate their scores in an easy to interpret graph and text. In addition to that, students may receive an email from ICB letting you know about sources for support in the areas in which students could use some assistance.

SmarterMeasure is a tool to help you assess your readiness for learning. The SmarterMeasure tool is not intended to make an absolute decision as to whether students will be successful in their courses. However, the scores will provide an idea of the strengths in the different components SmarterMeasure assesses.

Students will complete the test onsite when they enroll with their admissions representative, once the test is completed the results will be provided to the student and their resources reviewed to assist with any support the student may need. The test is accessible at <https://icb.smartermeasure.com/>

TRANSFER CREDIT PROCESSING

A student transferring from another school will be assessed at the current rate per semester or per credit hour for individual courses. It is highly encouraged and recommended that students whom have received prior postsecondary education, request a copy of all prior higher education transcripts to ensure they are having their prior educational credits evaluated and potentially transferred. Please have the official transcripts sent to the Admissions office to submit to our Director of Education for evaluation. Turnaround time for evaluation of transfer credits is within 7 to 10 business days.

Students never having attended the International College of Broadcasting must present a transcript of records to be evaluated and considered for awarding credit. The grade recorded on said transcript must be a C (2.0) or above. Transfer credits are awarded on a one-to- one basis per semester. Credit for course hours not earned within the past five years may be granted at the discretion of the DOE. Credit for previous training at the International College of Broadcasting will be awarded for successfully completed semesters.

The International College of Broadcasting does not guarantee the transferability of credits either to or from other institutions. Credit transfer is the right of the receiving institution. A maximum of 25% of a student's program can be accepted for transfer/test-out credit.

The Director of Education will determine if the student's situation has maybe altered in a positive direction in comparison to when they originally were withdrawn from the institution so that the student may be able to finish their degree successfully. The Director of Education will also complete a plan of success that is in the best interest of the student so they may be able to finish their program.
